Mansfield wants foes to disclose finances

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Democratic congressional candidate Mike Mansfield said Wednesday he wants his opponents to fully disclose personal financial information. But Mansfield is not on record as filing a 1987 personal financial statement with the federal government.

A spokesman for St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, one of Mansfield's opponents, said Mansfield may be in violation of federal financial disclosure laws.

Twenty First Congressional District candidates Costello, and Madison County Auditor Pete Fields, each filed a personal financial statement with the clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mansfield and candidate Steve Maragides, an administrative law judge from Madison, have not, according to House records.

Dave Wagner, Costello's campaign manager, said Mansfield and Maragides may be violating the federal disclosure law. He said it was his understanding that Jan. 7, which is 30 days after the Dec. 7 Illinois filing date, is the deadline for filing personal income disclosure with the federal government.

"The latest he could have filed would be Jan. 7. We've checked it out pretty thoroughly," Wagner said. "I would think Mansfield would be taken to task. For him to call for full disclosure is the height of ridiculousness."

Mansfield filed a federal disclosure statement in 1986. He said in the last week he has sent an updated statement.

The top Washington aide to retiring U.S. Rep. Mel Price, Mansfield took a leave of absence to run for his boss' Mansfield was required to file a federal financial statement because of his position as an aide.

Mansfield said he would disclose his personal financial information to the public within a week and urged his opponents to do the same. He said the disclosure law was unclear.

By law, congressional candidates must file personal financial information by March 8, seven days before the March 15 Democratic primary. But a clause in the law also states a candidate must file a disclosure statement within 30 days.

Mansfield said he was concerned about voters not being able to compare the candidates' personal finances before the primary. He said he wanted all the candidates' finances widely distributed.

"I firmly believe the voters need adequate time to thoroughly review the personal financial records of the candidates. People should know income, property holdings, business associations and associates," Mansfield said. "Anything less than a full disclosure would be cheating the public to know of any special business interests."

Wagner said it would be unnecessary for Costello to provide any more financial information than he already has. Fields also said further disclosure is not necessary.

"They (personal finances) are there (in Washington) for the asking. Our response is that it's a moot point," Wagner said.

Wagner said Costello filed a federal disclosure report every year since 1980, when Costello first ran for a possible congressional bid.

"Mine is filed. Anybody is able to request that and get it. I don't know exactly what he (Mansfield) is asking for," Fields said.

Maragides, who said he has filed personal financial reports in past congressional bids, said he would soon file a new one.

"I filed last time and I still stands. My financial status has not changed much," Maragides said.

Chairman issue won't be on ballot

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Petitions to change the duties and manner of electing the Madison County Board chairman were ruled invalid Wednesday.

Out of 500 needed signatures, 491 were accepted by Chief Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill. The referendum will not be on the March 15 ballot.

"We didn't just lose a hearing, we lost the people's right to vote," said petition organizer Bob Barton, Granite City.

Among problems were that eight people had not voted in four years and therefore could not sign the petitions, some signers did not list addresses and some signatures were bogus.

"This would have passed overwhelmingly," Barton said.

He said he wants to get the issue on the November ballot.

"The only people who were against it were the old politicians," he said.

Davis seeking BAC board unity, balanced budget

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Bobby Joe Davis has come a long way from the hills of Missouri.

On Dec. 17, the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees appointed Davis, 55, interim chancellor, replacing Bruce Wissore, 40, who was fired Dec. 12 and given a teaching job.

"Who would have ever guessed a boy from the hills of Missouri would end up with a position with BAC," said Davis.

As interim chancellor, Davis said he wants to restore unity among trustees. He said the board has one goal in mind — to make BAC the best possible college.

Davis said one person can't heal the divisions within the eight-member board.

"I think eight people can help that," he said. "I think I can be an influence in that."

Another of Davis' goals is to bring spending in line with revenues, he said. The trustees adopted a fiscal 1988 budget last year that's more than $1 million in the red.

BAC administrators are continuing to look at ways to cut spending, Davis said. A $300,000 mainframe computer has been cut from the budget, wage freezes have been taken by faculty members, and teaching positions haven't been filled, he said.

About 40 percent of the deficit has been cut and Davis expects a balanced budget by the end of the year, he said.

Davis said he and the board are committed to the Granite City area. This was made evident, he said, by BAC's takeover Jan. 1 of the administrative duties at Granite City Steel's training center.

Wissore (the center) at Granite City Steel, but it's serving BAC residents," he said.

Davis began teaching in Missouri before coming to Granite City to accept a junior high school teaching job. He later served as a principal and as an administrative assistant to former Superintendent Russell Johnson. Davis became acting superintendent, following Johnson's sudden death in November 1966, and was later named superintendent.

After serving almost 18 years as District 9's top administrator, Davis was fired by the School Board in June 1984 due to irreconcilable differences. He was replaced by then Assistant Superintendent Frank Kraus. Kraus declined comment on Davis' appointment at BAC.

Much like Wissore, Davis was fired during a time when the district was facing decreases in revenues and enrollment.

"It's somewhat deja vu," Davis said.

Most people in the community understood the situation surrounding Davis' firing, he said.

"I left with a lot of good will of the people," Davis said. "I certainly have good will toward them."

Davis supporters were pleased with his appointment at the college.

"He has the right personality," District 9 Superintendent Gib Walmsley said. "He cares about people, especially students."

Walmsley served as principal of Prather Junior High (now elementary) School, Granite City High School North and the combined high-schools under Davis' administration.

"He was the best superintendent I ever worked for," Walmsley said.

Former School Board member Dewey Melton called Davis a "superior administrator."

"I'm just delighted that he got it," Melton said.

Melton, along with board member Monroe Worthen, voted against firing Davis. Melton said Davis was "unfairly blamed" for the problems facing the district in 1984. He said the difficulties were due to a bad economy and lack of state funding.

The four former board members who voted to fire Davis — David Partney, Ruth Lahr, Alan Crider and Kelly Hogan — could not be reached for comment.

Following his dismissal, Davis took a sabbatical leave during the 1984-85 school year, taking history courses through BAC, he said.

He taught in District 9 during the 1985-86 school year, after which he retired. Since then, he's worked as a real estate dealer with Joiner-Winfield Realty Associates, Edwardsville, he said.

After Wissore was fired last month, Davis was contacted about the interim post by a BAC board member, he said. The trustees interviewed Davis on Dec. 16, along with STUE professor Walter Deane Wiley and John Robertson of St. Louis Community College.

Davis has no plans to seek the job permanently, he said.

Retiree hired to train employee

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A retired District 9 employee was hired Jan. 7 as a consultant to train a new district hire.

Marcella Pilcher, former supervisor of accounting, was employed by the School Board as a payroll consultant and trainer for June Mercer, the district's new lead payroll processor.

Pilcher will "perfect" Mercer's skills as a payroll clerk and teach her the district's proprietary policies concerning the duties Pilcher used to perform as a district employee, according to an agreement between the district and Pilcher.

As a consultant, Pilcher will work as an independent contractor on an "as needed" basis. She will be paid $15 an hour, not to exceed $4,900.

Mercer was hired by the board Dec. 15 at an annual salary of $17,200 plus benefits. Her duties include entering payroll information into a computer and verifying work hours.

Pilcher retired from the district at the end of the last school year. She earned $25,000 in wages and benefits.

The supervisor of accounting position was eliminated by the board Nov. 24 and the lead payroll processor post was created. The accounting supervisor job was eliminated due to computerization and changes in duties.

The board voted Dec. 30 to hire Pilcher as a consultant.

Two arrested in racial attack

GRANITE CITY — Two Missouri men were charged with aggravated assault in an apparently racially motivated attack Sunday against a man and three teenagers.

Roommates Christopher Joseph Fann, 25, an electrician, and John Clinton Cheek, 17, a car wash employee, both from Jennings, were taken into custody after they allegedly used knives to threaten the four.

Granite City patrolmen were called to The Store and More, a convenience shop at Edwardsville Road and 12th Street, at 10:37 p.m. after a fight was reported.

According to witnesses, the two white men made insulting racial comments to four black customers and then tried to start a fight with them.

Fann then allegedly took the keys of Robert Irwin, 22, 212 Watson St., Madison, from the counter of the store. The witnesses said Irwin had politely asked for the keys back when Fann and Cheek left the store and pulled two knives on Irwin and his companions in the parking lot.

With Irwin were brothers Derek Wise, 17, and Todd Wise, 16, both of 211 Watson St., Madison, and Carlos Betts, 15, 132 N. Fifth St., Brooklyn.

Patrolmen found a knife on the driver's side floorboard of Fann's car but not a second knife. Witnesses said Cheek had thrown his knife across the road when police arrived.

Court reverses decision

GRANITE CITY — A 1985 contempt of court citation against former Belleville Area College Chancellor Bruce Wissore was reversed Thursday, Jan. 7, by the Fifth District Court of Appeals.

City receives top TIF benefits

GRANITE CITY — This city was one of six communities that were the top beneficiaries of Tax Increment Financing funds in the state.

The city has received about 4 percent of the state's TIF money. Of $9.8 million in allocated TIF funds, the city received about $400,000 in 1987. It is the first money the city has received from the TIF program.

Granite City has designated most of its downtown as a TIF district.

Resident parking

GRANITE CITY — Public parking for residents only is an issue that won't go away, said 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Flisk.

Flisk said at the City Council's Jan. 5 meeting that several recent council actions, which banned parking on public streets to all but nearby residents, are prompting other residents to ask for similar restrictions.

More time allowed for road budget adoption

By Bill Bagby Staff writer

NAMEOKI — More time is being allowed for Nameoki Township officials to adopt the road district budget.

Starting this year, the road district, town fund and general assistance budgets can all be adopted any time before the end of the first quarter of the fiscal year, or May 31 in Nameoki's case, according to a letter from George Miller, executive director, Township Officials of Illinois.

The letter was read at Monday's Town Board meeting by Town Clerk Lee Ridgeway.

In the past, road district budgets could only be adopted on the last Tuesday in March, Miller wrote.

"Budgets adopted the last Monday or last Wednesday or any other day were technically flawed," he said. "However, budgets for other town and general assistance purposes could be adopted any time before the end of the first quarter of the fiscal year."

Miller called the change "an important step in the right direction."

Nameoki Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. said the extra time will give officials a chance to make possible changes in the road district budget.

Candidates must tell worth

"Shucks, I'm just like ya'll. One of the plain, workin' folks," say gentlemen who obligingly use pedicured fingernails to scratch their bellies through Pierre Cardin suits.

On the national level, it's George Bush telling Republican primary rival Robert Dole to quit talking about being like everyone else and show the fact—Dole's income information. Bush must think there's plenty; since Bush himself made more money last year than the combined amounts of any four "plain workin' folks" in Granite City.

The same disclosure challenge is being made in the Democratic primary race in the 21st Congressional District. Mike Mansfield wants his opponents to show it like it is.

A curious public will want to know what every candidate made, but the heat to disclose everything about earnings is going to burn hottest at the bottom line of St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello.

A dream for most people, money is Costello's campaign nightmare. Talk about a war chest—and his opponents certainly do—Costello pits nuclear-strength dollars against water-pistol pocketchange. His campaign arsenal tops $400,000 compared to about $5,000 each for his opponents.

Candidates' earnings are not a main issue, even in this economically depressed hip-pocket of the nation, but candidate finances have a high rate of public interest, guaranteed to increase exponentially if withheld.

Any candidate who won't say what he's worth leaves the public speculating about his honesty, ability to manage money, where he gets it, and "Hey, Mac, just how rich is this guy, anyway?"

Candidates in the 21st Congressional District can expect to lose votes if they try to "shucks" out of full financial disclosure.

Hospitality, Chicago style

Chicago may no longer be the "second city," but it's still a major metropolis and a fine asset for Illinois. Fellow residents are proud to have the nation's third largest city within their state, right?

Maybe, but it's somewhat discouraging to learn that innocent Downstaters once again are receiving phony parking violation notices from the Windy City. We editorialized against that years ago, and thought the odd practice had been halted. At that time, 100,000 erroneous tickets were attributed to "computer error."

Hundreds of vehicle owners have complained to state and local authorities in the past six weeks. They report receiving parking tickets demanding payment, even though they haven't gone near Chicago. Dated in late 1987, the notices refer to alleged 1986 infractions.

Cook County traffic enforcement officials say they aren't trying to collect unpaid Chicago fines, a task that has been shouldered by the city for a considerable period of time.

Sorry, but our checks aren't in the mail. And if we're going to continue to regard it as "our kind of town," Chicago is going to have to shape up and transfer those over-achieving collection clerks to other duties.

Don't block second lock

Opposition to a second new Mississippi River lock fails to take into account the importance of the inland waterway system and its dependence on an alternative in the event an accident prevents vessels from using the main lock.

A second lock also would add capacity, reducing the river congestion that has plagued Alton for decades. Without the second lock, a bottleneck could hamper national defense.

With Alton Locks and Dam 26 deteriorating badly, work was started in 1980 to construct a new lock and dam two miles downstream. This work has been done but not completed, and a second new lock has been authorized but not yet built.

The barge industry has been in a recession and only 70 million tons of freight passed through the old locks last year. But still farther downstream, the Tri-City Regional Port at Locks 27 is still a busy cargo transfer point. And the recession probably won't last as long as the time it takes to add a second new Alton lock.

It is expected to be much cheaper to erect the lock while equipment and access facilities are still in place at the site. If there is an indefinite delay, the taxpayer public ultimately would be the loser, perhaps to the tune of $80 million or $100 million.

Bridge work not painless

The motoring public undoubtedly has mixed emotions about scheduled improvements to the Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge (acquired in 1987 by the two states) and then the Poplar Street Bridge. Each bridge crosses the Mississippi River between East St. Louis and St. Louis.

It is reassuring that both spans will remain viable and will be expanded to handle traffic more efficiently and expeditiously. But the duration of the construction work, extending over the next four years, will mean increased congestion and awkward routes for commuters.

With Illinois taking the lead on these projects, it will be important for Missouri to assign officers to western exits, speeding traffic flow during peak hours, and also to move quickly to design and build facilities linking the King Bridge to Interstate 55/70.

Auditor candidate seeks answers

To the editor:
Right before Christmas, Pete Fields fired his hand-picked candidate for auditor, Mr. Bathon, my opponent in the Democratic primary. Fields claimed that he did not fire him for political reasons.

Bathon has been strangely silent about the firing. Since Bathon was Fields' campaign treasurer in the unsuccessful 1986 Congressional campaign, he knows all the secrets of the money in that campaign, including where Fields got his money, and the funds given to Mayor Carl Officer of East St. Louis.

All of this raises a number of questions which Fields and Bathon should answer:
Did Fields fire Bathon for misconduct? If so, what was it?

Why won't Bathon tell the public about the events surrounding him being fired?

What have Fields and Bathon got on each other?

Fields claimed that he didn't want the Madison County Democratic endorsement because they wouldn't account for the $8,000 he gave them a few years ago, but how can this be right?

Why was money paid to Officer? We know it couldn't have been to get votes for Fields, because Fields got few votes in East St. Louis.

Fields is the Madison County auditor, and Bathon wants to succeed him; they are supposed to be the watchdog over the public's money. Yet they won't account to the public for campaign funds paid to Officer. Why not?

Fields and Bathon owe an explanation on these issues. We're all waiting to hear it.

Mission reports to community

To the editor:
The Gospel Workers Mission would like to report that generous people in our area have helped us to help many families in the Granite City area during the past holiday season. These families consisted of elderly, blind, sick, homeless, poor and low-income families in our area.

Ussery and Bob Houle officiating.
On Jan. 10 the evangelistic team of Jim and Sheila Crabtree began conducting a healing crusade at the Mission, with donations and offerings used to help needy people of our area.

The Mission is not affiliated with any government agency, and depends solely upon donations from the community to provide help for the poor and the elderly. Donations may be brought to the mission or mailed to the Gospel Workers Mission, P.O. Box 336, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Cruse should consider dump change

Open letter to Mayor Cruse:
I read with interest the article in the Dec. 17 Press-Record regarding the proposal that Granite City haul its trash to Burns and Roe Industrial Service Co., East St. Louis, where it would be converted into marketable products.

Belleville, Edwardsville and Collinsville have already given their verbal commitment to this idea. For it to be cost-effective, it must be approved by all adjoining communities in Metro East.

It would cost 31 cents per ton to process the garbage; however, if the plant made a profit, each participating community would get a percentage rebate.

The article did not quote the price Granite City currently pays to landfill its trash. It's possible the two prices are comparable.

An article in the Dec. 29 issue states that Laidlaw Corp. of Illinois has commissioned a report seeking to expand the Barton Landfill (which receives about 80 percent of all Madison County waste) from 30 acres to 244 acres.

When the expansion for the present 30-acre site was granted in 1982, it was estimated the landfill would last for 20 years (until 2002); however, now they estimate it will be full within two years (in 1990).

With available land being used up that fast, and following the American way, it is plausible that in the future the charge to landfill our trash will rise.

Since a special committee of the Madison County Board will consider Laidlaw's request to purchase the additional 214 acres and solicit public comment, I suggest, Mayor Cruse, that the proposal by Burns and Roe Industrial Service be taken into consideration as the County Board considers Laidlaw's request.

To hunt girls run for prez

The first quickie survey following Gary Hart's re-entry into the race revealed a sampling of Democrats favor Hart over the others—two-to-one over Dukakis.

One of the problems with being judgmental in these matters has to do with historical precedent.

Did the Eisenhower mistress make him a lesser leader? Did the naked playgirls in the Kennedy White House diminish his effectiveness as a chief executive?

Indeed, even puritanical Jimmy Carter confessed to "lusting" in his heart.

The peccadilloes of some public figures go back through American history—all the way back.

Is it hypocritical now to say that a confessed sinner is automatically ineligible for public trust?

When Hart dropped out of the race seven months ago, the Federal Elections Commission declared him ineligible for matching campaign money from the federal treasury.

Back in the race, he becomes eligible again though he told a TV interviewer "that's not the reason" he re-entered the campaign.

don't think it was, even though he still owes more than a million dollars in 1984 campaign debts. He also has some debts from his 1982 race.

By re-entering the campaign in time to qualify for the New Hampshire primary, Hart is saying that "we can thus let the people decide."

I suggest what they are deciding is something more significant than his own candidacy?

What New Hampshire voters are going to tell us is whether we should measure politicians by standards which we do not necessarily apply to ourselves.

Some Democratic insiders are also figuring that if Hart can rally public support for a personally discredited candidate, can Kennedy be far behind?

Irreverent writer/editor Robert Orben says, "A whole generation of American schoolboys is growing up with the notion that running for President is a good way to meet girls."

Do you plan to do your taxes?

Almost everyone has received their 1987 federal income tax forms in the mail. Under the new tax laws, the forms are supposed to be easier than ever before. Do you usually do your own taxes each year and do you plan to do your own taxes this year, in light of the easier forms?

Roena Ashing, Granite City

"I do my own and I plan to do them this year. They might be a little more difficult, but it's one of those things you have to do. I also do other family members' taxes, too."

Dan Nichols, Granite City

"I never have, but I do plan to this year. I haven't looked at the new forms yet, because I just got them last night, but I'll do all right."

Michael Turner, Granite City

"No, I don't do my own taxes and I don't plan to do them this year, especially with all the new tax laws for this year."

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes a person will contact this office and indicate that he has been discharged by his employer. If an employee is fired in retaliation for his activities, does he have any recourse against the employer?

The general rule in Illinois in an employment at will relationship is that there is no limitation on the right of an employer to discharge an employee. One exception to this rule has been created, however, if there has been a retaliatory discharge. The Illinois courts have required a plaintiff who brings an action for retaliatory discharge to prove that he was discharged in retaliation for his activities, and that the discharge was in contravention of a clearly mandated public policy.

In one recent case, the plaintiff and his co-worker went to a party together after work. The co-worker allegedly became intoxicated and irrational at the party. The plaintiff drove him back to the company parking lot at which time the plaintiff refused to return the co-worker's car keys. The plaintiff felt that his fellow employee was too intoxicated to drive, and the plaintiff offered to drive him home. The co-worker became enraged when the plaintiff would not return his keys, and a fight broke out in the parking lot.

The company conducted an investigation of the circumstances of the incident, and subsequently both the plaintiff and the co-worker were fired. The company stated that the reasons for discharging the plaintiff were for "being under the influence of intoxicants and fighting on company property." The plaintiff filed a complaint against the company alleging retaliatory discharge. He felt that in preventing a drunken co-worker from driving while intoxicated his actions were consistent with the public policy of Illinois.

The Appellate Court ultimately ruled that the plaintiff's discharge was not in retaliation for his actions. The Court felt that the plaintiff was fired due to his own intoxication and his fighting with the co-worker on company property. In summary, the plaintiff was not discharged for pursuing goals identified as the public policy of Illinois. In reality, he was fired because the method he used to pursue those goals led to his fighting with a fellow employee in his employer's parking lot. Therefore, he failed to show that his discharge was caused by the employer's desire to retaliate against him for his pursuit of his responsibilities of citizenship.

Tradition — Dignity — Support

WHEN A CHILD DIES

The death of a loved one is one of life's tragedies. But society somewhat accustoms us to some deaths.

The death of a parent seems to be the natural order of things. We bury our parents and our children bury us. Even the death of a spouse is in keeping with the natural order, barring an accident, one spouse will outlive the other.

But society is of little help when one of our children dies. Whether that child is a baby, very young, or middle aged, the pain and sense of loss felt by the parent is the same. Nature, it seems, did not intend for parents to bury their children. The death of a child is often called the ultimate tragedy in life.

Most people feel a sense of detachment or numbness for a period of time after the death of their child. It's as if the child is not real, that the only reality is that your child is dead, and you don't want to live with that reality. After detachment comes the pain.

No one has gone through this tragedy without thinking at one time or another, "No one can possibly know what this feels like. No one can know the pain that I am feeling." But that isn't the case, every parent who loses a child feels that same terrible sense of loss, the same pain.

It is during the periods of detachment and pain that the urge to simply withdraw from life is the worst thing that you can do. Withdrawal from life robs you of the only mechanism at hand to ease your hurt, companionship of your fellow man.

To survive the death of your child, you can not give into your terrible sense of loss or to the tremendous grief that you feel over that loss. Life goes on, and you must make a choice to live that life, not to just exist in it. You must reach out beyond your grief to those around you.

Returning to life won't be easy, nor will there be a magical formula that I can give you. You must simply take a series of small, halting steps back to living. All of those steps will be painful and some will even be backward steps. The funeral, which you didn't think you could survive, but did, is a small step back. Returning to work is another, renewing friendships is another, and re-establishing your interests and hobbies is another.

You must understand and accept that while you have suffered the greatest loss, the life that you have before you the rest of your life is a matter of your choice.

Harry Bueente

Bueente

Edward Harry Bueente, 92, formerly of Venice and Granite City, died at Anderson Hospital, Maryville, at 6:51 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1988.

He had been a resident of the Eden Village Care Center, Edwardsville, since March 1987. Mr. Bueente was born Dec. 28, 1895, in Venice and served as mayor of Venice on an interim basis in 1979. He was a Venice 1st Ward alderman for 34 years and served as chief of the Venice volunteer fire department for 17 years.

FEET FIRST

SLOW TO WALK

By Dr. Claude Hilles

Walking is the new fitness craze, and with good reason. Walking increases the venous return of blood to the heart and helps stimulate circulation. As with all aerobic exercise, walking also helps lower blood lipids (fat) by removing fat from the blood and pushing it into the liver, where it is used for energy. In addition, vigorous walking encourages the liver to produce more HDL, the so-called good cholesterol. Since walking is a weight-bearing activity, it strengthens bone as well as muscle. As a result, it may reduce the risk of osteoporosis. Because walking creates only one-third the impact of running, there are fewer injuries caused by stress to the leg joints and tendons. Ultimately, walking gives a sense of control and wholeness.

A podiatrist is dedicated to keeping you walking in comfort. With preventive care, periodic foot exams, and prompt treatment of foot disorders, you enjoy a lifetime of good foot health. Contact my office, located at 1930 State St., for professional and personalized attention to your family's foot concerns. In-office surgery and x-ray facilities are provided. Office hours by appointment, telephone 877-6025. We are available to do in-service education, geared to other health care providers and nursing home staff. SCIBS, John Hancock, Medicare, and most major insurances—1930 State Street • 877-6025

He attended Venice schools and a business college and served in the armed forces in World War I.

Mr. Bueente was a member of St. John United Church of Christ in Granite City, the Hilltoppers Club of the church, Modern Woodmen of America and Venice-Madison America Legion Post 307. He formerly was active in the Venice Lions Club, the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and Madison Baracks 34 of Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A.

He worked for the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad for many years and retired in 1968.

His wife, Rhea Bueente, died Sept. 13, 1987. His survivors include several cousins.

City expands enterprise zone

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city's enterprise zone is likely to get bigger.

The City Council approved taking in 103 acres of newly purchased Tri-City Regional Port District property and Granite City Steel's recently annexed buildings for inclusion. To expand the zone requires state approval.

Enterprise zones are areas where current and future businesses are eligible for state tax breaks and other incentives.

The city tried to expand the zone last summer but the state wanted a legal description before it would agree to the change. The expansion approved Jan. 5 includes parts of buildings not in the original zone.

The expansion plan needs approval from Venice, Madison and Madison County.

40-year term for Urioste

Mark S. Urioste, 26, Madison, was sentenced Jan. 8 by Madison County Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman to 40 years in prison for stabbing a Madison woman to death in 1986.

The judge recommended that he be transferred to Illinois Department of Mental Health custody at the Menard state prison near Chester and held in maximum security.

The victim, Rebecca Rodgers, 21, resided with her mother near the Urioste home. Rodgers was the mother of a 2-year-old child.

Urioste was also sentenced by Chapman to concurrent sentences of 20 years for home invasion, 20 years for armed violence and 10 years for aggravated attempted criminal sexual assault.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Rybak had sought more severe punishment but said, "I think the judge's decision was an appropriate sentence."

The defense contended Urioste suffered brain damage in 1981 when he fell from a tree and struck his head. He was in a coma for more than three months, testimony indicated.

His lawyer, Joseph R. Brown, Edwardsville, said he disagreed with the sentence on the basis that Urioste was affected by the injury. "It was not even clear at the trial that he did this. If he didn't have brain damage, he would not have done this."

Rybak said Urioste carefully planned the killing after repeatedly harassing the woman on earlier occasions. That he understood it was a crime was shown by efforts to cover up his role, the prosecutor argued.

McDonald's sponsoring King event

McDonald's Restaurants of St. Louis and Metro East area media celebrities, local dignitaries and more than 3,000 high school students will join minds and hear the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in honor of special ceremonies at the Kiel Opera House on Friday, Jan. 15.

The program, the "1988 Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. St. Louis Support Group Student Awareness Day," will begin at 10 a.m.

Featured speakers will be Missouri Gov. John Ashcroft and the Rev. Sterling Lands II.

Considered the founder of the civil rights movement, Dr. King spent his adult life fighting for the rights of Americans. Jan. 15 marks the anniversary of his birth in 1929.

McDonald's is the world's leading food service organization.

Madison woman gets new liver

Mary G. Swope, 47, Madison, is recovering from a liver transplant she underwent at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Jan. 10. She is in serious but stable condition.

Mrs. Swope had been awaiting a liver transplant for about three months. Her liver problem had been diagnosed as biliary cirrhosis, a scarring of the bile ducts from an unknown cause.

She had been disabled from her job as a forklift driver since 1981.

Mrs. Swope is the 41st person to receive a liver transplant at Barnes Hospital since the program began there in late 1985. The majority of liver transplant patients have been returned to productive lives, according to her surgeon, Dr. Douglas M. Hanto.

Dr. Hanto said as many as 5,000 persons in the United States could benefit from liver transplants each year, but only about half the number of donor livers become available. He encouraged anyone who would be willing to become an organ donor to discuss the matter with family members, since permission to take organs is obtained from the next of kin.

Football heroes

Hogan, Hylla find playing time scarce in college

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Many people might not realize how tough it is to break into big-time college athletics.

One can't imagine how many high school athletes there are in this country and what a small percentage of them become Big Men on Campus, much less professional athletes.

Nowhere is it illustrated any more than in the series of two of Granite City High School's finest football players of recent vintage — Jamie Hogan and Kurt Hylla. Both were unquestioned stars in high school. Jamie and his twin brother Tim could almost apply for folk hero status after starring in football, basketball and baseball.

But as good as they were in high school, both Hogan and Hylla have found playing time scarce — as in nearly non-existent — since moving on to top-level college football programs.

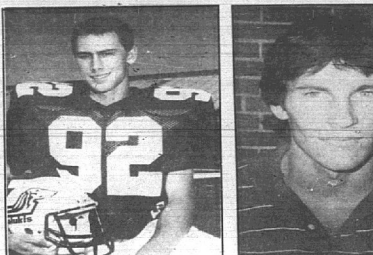

After an illustrious career as a split end/defensive back for the Warriors, Hogan moved on to SIU-Carbondale as a walk-on non-scholarship player over spring. Anyone who saw Jamie's ability to get open and drop a catchable pass in high school knew he would impress the Saluki coaches — and he did.

"I was the seventh receiver on the team this year and they only took six on road trips," Hogan said. "I would have made the travel squad if any of them had been hurt, but no one got hurt all year."

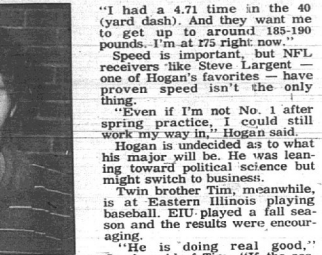

As a result, Hogan didn't see any varsity action this year, but that's not all bad. Jamie was redshirted this year, meaning he still has four years of playing eligibility left. And he plans to make more of an impression in spring practice that begins at the end of February.

"They said my blocking wasn't real good and they don't expect me to start," Hogan said. "But there's no doubt in my mind that I'll play and I want to start. They had a receiver down here named Shauntell Brown that they didn't expect to play much this year and he did."

Hogan's speed was less than scintillating to the coaches who are always looking for burners. "I've never been that fast as everybody knows," Hogan said.

"I've never been that fast as everybody knows," Hogan said.

"I've never been that fast as everybody knows," Hogan said.

"I had a 4.71 time in the 40 (yard dash). And they want me to get up to around 185-190 pounds. I'm at 175 right now."

Speed is important, but NFL receivers like Steve Largent — one of Hogan's favorites — have proven Speed isn't the only thing.

"Even if I'm not No. 1 after spring practice, I could still work my way in," Hogan said. Hogan is undecided as to what his major will be. He was leaning toward political science but might switch to business.

Twin brother Tim, meanwhile, is at Eastern Illinois playing baseball. EIU played a fall season and the results were encouraging.

"He is doing real good," Jamie said of Tim. "If the season started now, he would have a chance to be a starter."

Hylla's high school career was marred by a pair of broken ankles, one for two years. He was named Ron Yates' favorite players went to Triton Junior College in north Illinois for two years.

But this year Hylla donned the gold and black of his favorite school — the University of Missouri — and the results were encouraging.

"I played in a couple of junior varsity games, but that was it," Hylla said. "We beat Northeast Missouri State in one game and I returned an interception for a touchdown."

Like Hogan, Hylla — who plays safety — believes spring practice will be all-important for him.

"That's when players like me have to earn a spot on the team," he said. "It's really hard to come in in the fall and get a spot. Even if I don't get a spot, I think I have a real good chance to play special teams."

Hylla said there was another player he was about even with during two-days in Columbia last fall, but that player — also a junior — had been at Missouri for two years already and ended up.

"I just dressed out for the home games this year," Hylla said. "We start weightlifting Jan. 18, and then get going with spring practice later."

The Tigers were 5-6 in 1987 and came close to shocking Oklahoma in Norman on Nov. 14.

"The team is coming along pretty good," Hylla said. "We played just about everybody tough, except when Nebraska blew us out."

Hylla had a successful career at Triton, intercepting eight passes and punting. He graduated from Granite City High School in 1985. He is majoring in sociology at Missouri.

It was business as usual, as most basketball games between Venice and Worden go.

The Red Devils once again put the hurt on the hapless Trojans to the tune of 117-35 on Tuesday at Worden. Carlos Briggs led the way with 22 points, while Daryl Jackson and Tyrone Treadway added 18 apiece. Hosea King (15), Willie Hollis (12) and John Williams (12) were also in double figures.

The Devils, who beat Worden 123-18 earlier in the year, are now 5-0 in Illinois Gateway Conference play and 9-2 overall.

Skaters increase division lead with triumph over feisty Stars

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It's debatable as to how well the Warriors hockey team will do in next month's Mid States Club Hockey Association playoffs.

But Garry Henson feels like a lot of his players would be happy to debate the issue.

"Sometimes I don't know if I'm coaching a hockey team or a debate team," Henson said after Tuesday's 6-2 win over McCluer North at the Wilson Park rink. "We spend so much time getting in conversations with the other team. We play a lot better when we are playing against them and not debating them."

It was a game with a nice little mean streak, something that often happens when two teams play each other back-to-back. The Warriors topped the Stars 4-4 on Saturday and came right back Tuesday for another win.

Matt Krekovich had a pair of goals and was one of the leaders in a running feud with McCluer North's Jeff Carrioco.

Carrioco became intimately acquainted with the penalty box as he made five visits there.

"I heard his brother got suspended last night," Henson said of Carrioco. "Those two are quite a pair. But we have to win on Tuesday."

JIM ROBERTSON had three assists in the Warriors' win on Tuesday.

Trojans slide into finals at Litchfield

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

LITCHFIELD — The Litchfield Tournament championship is within reach of the Trojans and they want it.

After finishing second here each of the past two seasons, Madison is once again in the championship game after gutting out a tough 58-52 win over a pesky Breese Central team on Wednesday.

The six-point margin of victory was appropriate because the Trojans' lead hovered right around six most of the second half. But it was all they could do to hold off the Cougars in the final minutes in raising their record to 12-3.

"They're good," said Trojan coach Rich Essington of the Cougars. "I told my kids they play well on defense."

But it was the Cougars' ability to pass the ball crisply and quickly that broke the Madison press several times in the first half for easy baskets. Jason Holthaus (17 points) and Mark Markus (12) were able to get free underneath for easy baskets as the Trojans were caught upcourt several times.

"I've said before that when you're not working hard on your press that a good team can make you look bad," Essington said. "We talked about that all half-time. And rather than changing anything, it was just a matter of us working harder on defense."

BREESE CENTRAL: Hoffmann 17, Markus 12, Little 9, Timmermann 8, Becker 2, S. Nelson 2, Bricker 2, FO-2184, FT-12/11, PF-22.

The Cougars had a 22-17 lead in the second quarter before the Trojans came back. Clarence Williams' steal and three-point play put Madison ahead — with good as it turned out — with two minutes left in the half. The lead was as big as 11 in the second half, but Breese Central kept pecking away.

The Trojans made only six of 14 free throws with 1:36 left to make it 53-48. Clarence Williams missed and Jessie Leonard rebounded, only to make one of two. Markus' basket with 1:05 left made it 54-50. Jason Briggs made his only two points of the night big ones as he rebounded Clarence Williams' miss, but it was still 56-52 when Williams missed the front end of a bonus with 43 ticks left.

But Rob Nelson missed on a three-pointer from the left corner, and although the Trojans missed the front end of a bonus

"We haven't shot well the last couple of games," Essington said. "We just have to show more patience on offense and not get frustrated when we can't pass the ball. Breese Central did a good job when they got us in a half-court game."

Clarence Williams led the Trojans with 18 points. Leonard had 13 and Steve Sanders 11, although it wasn't a typical Trojan night full of three-pointers — they made only two.

They now play at 7:30 p.m. Saturday against the winner of tonight's Jerseyville-Litchfield game.

Devils wallop Worden — again

It was business as usual, as most basketball games between Venice and Worden go.

The Red Devils once again put the hurt on the hapless Trojans to the tune of 117-35 on Tuesday at Worden. Carlos Briggs led the way with 22 points, while Daryl Jackson and Tyrone Treadway added 18 apiece. Hosea King (15), Willie Hollis (12) and John Williams (12) were also in double figures.

The Devils, who beat Worden 123-18 earlier in the year, are now 5-0 in Illinois Gateway Conference play and 9-2 overall.

Worden is still rated sixth in the Illinois Class A poll, but incredibly along with Madison has been left out of the Suburban Journals poll for the second straight week.

Devils in shootout at BAC

Approximately 200 spectators are expected to attend the Southern Illinois Shootout on Saturday at Belleville. The defending Illinois Class A champion Venice Red Devils are the featured attraction as they play Trenton Weeslin in an 8:30 p.m. game. Woodlawn faces Carlyle at 7 p.m. in the first half of the doubleheader.

The Southern Illinois Shootout is sponsored by Basketball Superfans, a non-profit organization promoting outstanding high school basketball competition in the metro area.

Both games will be at the BAC varsity gym, 2500 Carlyle Road (Illinois 161) in Belleville. Tickets are $5 for adults and $4 for students and are available at the participating high schools.

For more information about the shootout and Basketball Superfans, call Dennis Schickel at 234-2120, extension 1351, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Devils in Sparta Tournament

Following that game, the Red Devils will compete in the Sparta Mid-Winter Classic next week. Venice will take on Wood River in a first-round game at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

In other first-round games, Soldan faces Lebanon at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday (Jan. 19). Waterloo Gibault faces DuQuoin at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 20. Solder and Red Bud at 8 p.m. Jan. 20.

The winners of Tuesday's games will meet in a semifinal game at 6:30 p.m. on Jan. 21, with the losers of Tuesday's games playing at 8 p.m. Solder must play at 6:30 on Thursday, so if they lose on Tuesday, the loser's bracket game will be played first on Thursday.

The Wednesday winners will play at 6:30 Jan. 22 with the losers to meet at 8 p.m. Losers of the consolation games will meet for seventh place at 3:30 p.m. Jan. 23. The consolation title game will follow at 5 p.m.; the third-place game is at 6:30 p.m. and the title game will begin at 8 p.m.

way through the third quarter. With heads up ahead 32-23, Cavanaugh jabbed the Redwings for six quick points to ignite a 14-0 Warrior flurry that left Alton down for the 10-count.

By the time she mercifully retreated to the Warrior water-cooler early in the fourth quarter, Cavanaugh had also added five steals, four assists and two blocked shots to a repertoire that left the Redwings backpeddling most of the evening.

And when Cavanaugh isn't jabbing the Redwings inside, Kim Pawlak was busy bombing away from her guard position on learn to skate away from some things.

The Warriors were able to take advantage of the penalties early in the second period when Matt Schnefke and Kerekovich connected for power play goals, then Charlie Alexander scored 10 seconds after Kerekovich to give Granite City a 5-1 lead.

The win moves the Warriors' record to 7-1 in North Division play and evened their overall mark at 7-7.

"This puts us in great shape in the conference," Henson said. "McCluer North has four losses, so they're out. Cahokia has two losses and a tie and Hazelwood East has a loss and two ties. Cahokia still plays Hazelwood East, so if Cahokia wins there we could still lose another division game and win it."

The Warriors officially outshot the Stars 28-11, but they probably had more shots than that. Only the good work of Phil McClung in goal kept the score from being higher. He robbed Jim Morgan, Alexander and Schnefke in the early minutes before Tommy Brown got his 12th goal of the year to the short side at 5:36 on assists from Mike Parkinson and Jim Roberson.

Kerekovich picked up an extra minor in a fracas with Carlock at 7:12 and the Stars tied it at 7:33 when Jeff Baker banged in Dave Ruggieri's pass at the edge of the crease. Schnefke was robbed twice more by McClung before he picked up Richie Grogan's pass that banked off a defenseman in the slot and whipped it in at 12:07.

Schnefke got his 14th of the year at 1:15 of the second period when Roberson, who had three assists, won a faceoff to the point and Schnefke blasted it in only four seconds after a penalty to Todd Zachner. Zachner was in the box again when Kerekovich deflected Schnefke's shot from the point to make it 4-1 at 5:47.

Then Alexander scored the prettiest goal of the night. Parkinson started the play by sending Morgan and Alexander on a 2 on 1 break. Morgan drew the defenseman over to his side and sent Alexander in alone on right wing to beat McClung at 6:03.

"That was a beautiful goal," Henson said. "Those guys don't have the greatest ability in the world, but it was straight from the textbook. They made the play just like you would draw it on a chalkboard."

Ruggieri beat Warrior goalie John Rains on a long shot at 6:11, but Rains later stopped Rupp and Zachner on breakaways.

Kerekovich got the clincher after only 22 seconds of the third period when he skated out of the right corner and got his 16th goal of the year. The rest of the game was a parade to the penalty box for both teams, although Brian Farrell added one more goal for the Stars at 7:26.

route to 12 points. Point guard Wendy Knollman, playing on a sprained ankle, hobbled her way to four points and 12 assists.

To put the matter simply, the whole affair left Alton wondering from whence the next blow was coming.

"We always go inside to Cavanaugh's, and then if that's not working...we go from there," Warrior coach John Hutchings said. "But when we got Cavanaugh, Pawlak and Knollman all clicking at the same time, we can be awful hard to key on."

As was the case against Alton, Granite City hit on all cylinders early in the contest to take an 11-3 lead with three minutes left in the first quarter behind some strong inside shooting from Cavanaugh and forward April Barker, who finished with eight points.

Alton offered stiff resistance in the second quarter, cutting Granite City's lead to 22-18 with three minutes remaining in the half. But the Warriors answered Alton's peshiness with five quick points to give the Warriors a 29-18 halftime lead.

"It took us a little while to get on track," Hutchings said. "Alton was a lot smaller than us, but they were very quick."

"We played in spurts, but we got a few buckets at the right time that picked us up."

The win over the Redwings boosted Granite City to 8-7 on the season and 3-3 in Southwest Conference play. Alton fell to 4-9 (0-6 in the SWC), with two of the losses coming against the Warriors.

Tuesday's win, coupled with the Warriors' strong performance in a 69-55 loss to Belleville West on Monday, left Hutchings wearing a slight grin heading into the final stretch of the season.

"This is the first time we've beaten Alton twice in the same season in the four years I've been here, and that's a positive sign," Hutchings said. "Also, the girls just played their hearts out in the loss to Belleville West. A break here or there and that game can go either way."

On Wednesday, the Warriors raised their record to 9-7 with a 64-48 non-conference win over Wep River at Memorial Gymnasium.

Cavanaugh again led the way with 22 points, with Pawlak close behind with 20. Meyenburg and Knollman were also in double figures with 10 each. Melissa King had the other two points.

Granite City jumped out to a 16-6 lead over the Oilers (3-8) after the first quarter and led 32-17 at halftime. The Warriors play again on Tuesday when they travel to Collinsville for an SWC game.

So with confidence in tow, the Warriors will look to make some noise and rattle some cages in their final six games, four of which are conference games.

Taxing times for Simon along campaign trail

Will tax talk trip Paul Simon again? In his only election loss, the then-Madison Countyman was defeated in the 1972 primary for governor when his foe exploited Simon's verbal refusal to rule out future tax increases.

Now, he is being prodded in presidential debates to talk about taxes. His opponents say it is unrealistic for him to support both a balanced budget and an $8 billion "jobs for all" program.

SIMON SAID Jan. 7 he would consider taxing oil imports $5 a barrel (netting $9 billion), raising cigarette taxes 10 cents a pack ($2.5 billion), taxing U.S. income earned by foreign citizens and corporations (providing another $2.5 billion), and increasing income taxes on the wealthy ($2 billion for each 1 percent increase).

He also wants U.S. firms with overseas plants to pay income taxes on a current-year basis instead of waiting until the money is returned to the U.S.

He would cut defense spending 7 percent, saving $20 billion, and lower interest rates and expand employment, saving Uncle Sam more billions.

UNDAUNTED by being lured onto the political "hot coals" of tax advocacy, Simon is beginning the stretch run toward the 1988 primaries with confidence.

He received campaign financial help in 1987 from more than 25,000 individuals and hopes for even more support this year if a bit of handwoven momentum can be achieved.

Offering "leadership in the great Democratic tradition" and a return to some of the late President Harry Truman's policies, Simon said in a letter, "My campaign is moving strongly ahead."

"We have opened offices in more than 20 states; regained our second-place standing in New Hampshire polls, ahead of Gary Hart; and maintained our previous strength in Iowa."

He looks forward to working with his backers "in 1988 and for the next four years to improve the future of our nation."

WIN OR LOSE, a presidential campaign dramatically increases one's national visibility and name recognition.

Simon has appeared on numerous network interview shows, including "Face the Nation" Jan. 10.

On that show he said he favors taxation for long-term health care but not for education and public jobs; those two programs would be aided by funds saved from other programs.

THE CANDIDATE even has been featured in Sunday color comic sections, including one which predicted the 1988 ticket will be "Simon and (singer Art) Garfunkel."

And there have been many editorial cartoons, some of them negatively portraying him and his bow tie.

FURTHER NATIONAL exposure occurred Dec. 19 on the "Saturday Night Live" TV comedy show when singer Paul Simon was guest host. The two Pauls, who are unrelated, traded jokes for three minutes.

Viewers said the candidate, who is 5-9 in height, "stood tall" as he conversed with the 5-4 singer.

AROUND THE REGION:

Thirty Edwardsville postal workers didn't get their paychecks on Jan. 8 because the checks (sent from Minneapolis) were "misdirected" (lost in the mail).

Democrats occupy all elective countywide governmental and judicial offices in Madison County but the party is not that dominant everywhere in Illinois. Sangamon (Springfield area) County Clerk Maralee Lindley has just been elected as the 1988 president of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women.

The oldest church in Granite City, St. John United Church of Christ, is now in its 126th year. But St. Augustine of Heckler Canterbury Church, in Monroe County, has begun its 164th year.

If you like catchy words or slogans that are formed by an organization's acronym, how about the Save-All Farmland and Environmental Resources group? SAFER is opposing a proposal by Laidlaw Industries Inc. to expand the Barton Landfill near Edwardsville.

Millstadt area residents are speculating that the Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge's scheduled rehabilitation work will increase traffic on the Jefferson Barracks Bridge. The JB Bridge carries Interstate 255, which hasn't yet attracted the heavy usage that is expected.

IN ENGLAND in the year 1215 King John met with his barons at Runnymede. Their agreement, the Magna Carta, was sent to the medieval city of Lincoln, where it was preserved in the High Gothic cathedral then under construction.

In Metro East in 1215, prehistoric Indians were continuing to build mounds and a city with an estimated population of 20,000.

On Sunday, Jan. 17, at 2 p.m., Suzanne Kutzer-Sibert, interpretive specialist at the Cahokia Mounds Historic Site, will discuss the 13th-century social structure, religion and culture of "Life Along the Mississippi." Along with her talk at the History Museum in the Jefferson Memorial Building in Forest Park, she will show slides of artifacts, mounds and reconstructed drawings of Indian life.
